Flood Of Bills Reflects Urge For Tax Slash

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—Congressional enthusiasm for tax reduction was reflected today in a flood of tax bills introduced during the first three months of this session.

Out ahead numerically, in the field of general tax relief, are proposals to increase individual income exemptions by $100. For the average family this would mean a tax cut of around $80.

A check of the House Ways and Means Committee, where tax legislation originates, showed that nearly 800 tax relief bills of all descriptions are now on tap awaiting action.

"Take" May Tell Tale

In all, 1,109 revenue bills have been referred to the committee—almost as many in the first three months of this Congress as were introduced in the entire two years of the last Congress.

But before tax-cutting enthusiasm is translated into dollar savings for the public, the government must first tote up its tax "take" after tomorrow's deadline for filing of individual tax returns.

Congressional experts look for tax receipts to approximate $9 billion dollars or more this year—a figure that apparently would satisfy one condition for an income tax cut effective next Jan. 1.

Democratic leaders last week laid plans to initiate a tax bill this session if revenues hold up, and—as another condition—if Congress continues to whack the President's $71,800,000,000 budget by two or three billion dollars.

Exemption Hike Effects

If Congress should settle on an increase in the personal income exemption—upping it from $600 to $700—it would cost the government approximately 2½ billion dollars in revenue next year.

For the individual taxpayer, the greatest benefit under this plan would fall to the family of four with an income of $5,000 and under.

A married couple with two children earning from $3,000 to $5,000 a year would get a cut of $80. A similar family earning $5,000 to $10,000 a year would have its taxes reduced an estimated $88.

Above the $10,000 income bracket the percentage of reduction in relation to income would fall off sharply.

TAKES CONTROL — King Hussein (above) moved swiftly yesterday to strengthen his position in the shaky kingdom of Jordan. He drove out pro-Egyptian elements in his army and government in a military coup d'etat. The Jordanian radio said the Arab Legion had quelled an attempted army coup against the king.

Bill Might Be On Ike's Desk Late Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—Two congressional leaders today agreed that a money bill to let the postman deliver mail again on Saturdays should whisk through Congress in practically no time at all.

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) of the House Appropriations Committee said "I expect no difficulty" when the House tomorrow takes up the measure to give Postmaster General Summerfield another 41 million dollars.

And Sen. Robertson (D-Va.) head of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee which handles postal funds, raised the prospect of the Senate speedily sending the bill on to President Eisenhower—possibly by late Tuesday.

Pope Renews Stand Against Atomic Arms

Pontiff Tells Japan Envoy He Will Fight For Their Abolition

VATICAN CITY, April 14 (AP)—Pope Pius XII assured Japan's special H-bomb envoy today he intends to continue his efforts to have nuclear weapons outlawed.

After a virtually unprecedented Sunday private audience, Dr. Matsushita told reporters he was "very much pleased" at the pontiff's attitude.

"His Holiness already knew about my mission. He told me he had spoken several times against use of nuclear weapons and gave me a copy of his 1956 Christmas speech."

Endorsed Air Inspection

In that address the Pope declared: "Only in the ambit of an institution like the United Nations can promises of nations to reduce armament, especially to abandon production and use of certain arms, be mutually exchanged under the strict obligation of international law." He endorsed aerial inspection as a means of enforcing disarmament pledges.

In his 1955 Christmas message the pontiff called for "renunciation of experimentation with atomic weapons, renunciation of the use of such, and general control of armaments."

Vatican sources, who confirmed Dr. Matsushita's version of the Pope's remarks, hinted the pontiff might refer to the subject again in his Easter message next Sunday. He rarely grants audiences on any Sunday and Palm Sunday usually is a day to which he devotes the greatest reverence.

Appealed To British

Dr. Matsushita, personal representative of Japan's Prime Minister, came here from Britain, where he appealed to British leaders to call off their coming H-bomb tests at Christmas Island. The appeals were rejected but Matsushita said yesterday in Zurich he believed the British eventually would heed, "as a result of the moral pressure we are exerting."

In The Hague, on his way here, he talked with U. S. Judge Green H. Hackworth, president of the International Court of Justice, about H-bomb blasts and he intends to fly to the United States to see President Eisenhower.

$47 Million Sought

Summerfield is pushing Congress for 47 million dollars to keep postal services running for the remaining 2½ months of the 1957 fiscal year. When he didn't get the money before the weekend, he put in some sweeping cutbacks including closing of most post offices and elimination of home mail deliveries on Saturday.

Robertson, in an interview, said he believes the 41 millions will be enough to restore all services.

Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore.) said Budget Director Percival Brundage should bear the "main responsibility" for the Post Office Department's money shortage.

The Oregon Democrat told CBS-TV interviewers—"Face the Nation"—it had been apparent for months that the department would need more funds. But the Budget Bureau didn't okay a request to Congress for a supplemental appropriation until last month, he said.

Budget Bureau Violated Law

Comptroller General Campbell yesterday ruled that the Budget Bureau had violated the law which is aimed at making federal agencies portion out the spending evenly throughout the year so they won't ask Congress for supplemental funds. He said the Post Office Department, too, had violated the law "in spirit."

Robertson said if the House passes the 41-million-dollar supplemental bill tomorrow, as expected, he believes the Senate Appropriations Committee can act on it Tuesday in time for it to get to the Senate floor Tuesday afternoon.

This would require unanimous consent because, under Senate rules, three days must elapse between the time a money bill is reported from the committee and brought up on the floor.

However, the Virginian commented that, "I don't believe any one would withhold unanimous consent in this case."

Eight More Iranian Bandits Captured

TEHRAN, Iran, April 14 (AP)—A police spokesman said today eight more members of the desert bandit gang which recently ambushed and killed three Americans and two Iranians were captured yesterday.

This brought the number of arrested members of the gang led by Dadshah to 31, 18 caught in Pakistan, the remainder in Iran. All face the death penalty.

There is still no trace of Dadshah. His brother, now under arrest in Pakistan, claimed Dadshah was shot dead in a gunfight April 3, 10 days after the desert killings of the Americans. But police authorities reiterated today their hunt would continue day and night until Dadshah is found alive or dead.

Negotiations On Suez Canal Appear Futile

CAIRO, April 14 (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Raymond Hare met President Nasser for one hour today. It was their third meeting within a month in negotiations on the Suez Canal, which appeared to be making little progress.

Despite talk of modifications by Nasser, diplomatic sources said the Americans have little hope of achieving any major change in the Egyptian position.

Egyptian sources insist Nasser has made no real concession and feels he will not have to make any. Nasser was described as feeling sure he has won the fundamental question of sole Egyptian operation and control.

The American-Egyptian talks have continued for two reasons:

1. The Americans hope to cut the West's losses by wringing at least minor concessions from Nasser.

2. Nasser likes to continue the talks to give the appearance of being conciliatory and "keeping the door open."

Beck Faces 1st Round Of Battle

GALVESTON, Tex., April 14 (AP)—Fiery Teamster President Dave Beck, due here tomorrow for a closed-door conference with the union's Executive Board, faces the first round of his battle to remain kingpin of the giant labor organization.

The top item of the conference agenda reportedly is whether the union will answer a summons from the AFL-CIO to a May 6 hearing on corruption charges against the Teamsters.

Beck is reported to be insisting that the union snub the hearing even if it means the Teamsters are kicked out of the national federation. Other top union officials are reported to be urging that Teamsters appear before the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee probe.

Beck, who invoked the Fifth Amendment 117 times when Senate probes accused him of putting $320,000 of union funds to his own use, faces another session before the congressional committee.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) said last week that, "In the light of newly uncovered evidence it is highly probable Beck will be called back at some future time." The senator did not reveal the new evidence nor the time of the next hearing.

Racket Probers May Ask Reforms At This Session

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) said today the special Senate committee investigating racketeering in the labor-management field may push for reform legislation at this session of Congress.

McClellan old a newsmen the bipartisan committee, which he heads, already has more than a year's work ahead of it. But he said the group may decide to submit some legislative recommendations before completing its investigations.

The committee will resume public hearings Tuesday with testimony about what McClellan described as the use of "goon squad" violence by labor union officials in the Scranton, Pa., area.

Youth, 15, Kills His Grandmother For Scolding Him

ALTON, Ill., April 14 (AP)—A 15-year-old boy killed his grandmother with a butcher knife because she scolded him for not fixing a furnace fire properly, Madison County authorities said today.

The victim, Mrs. Velma Lucy McFarlane, 51, was stuck in the chest as she slept in her home here today.

Asst. State's Atty. Merle C. Bassett said the youth, Charles Edward McFarlane, signed a confession saying he committed the act.

A first-degree murder warrant was filed against Charles, who waived a preliminary hearing.

Red China Launches Yellow River Project

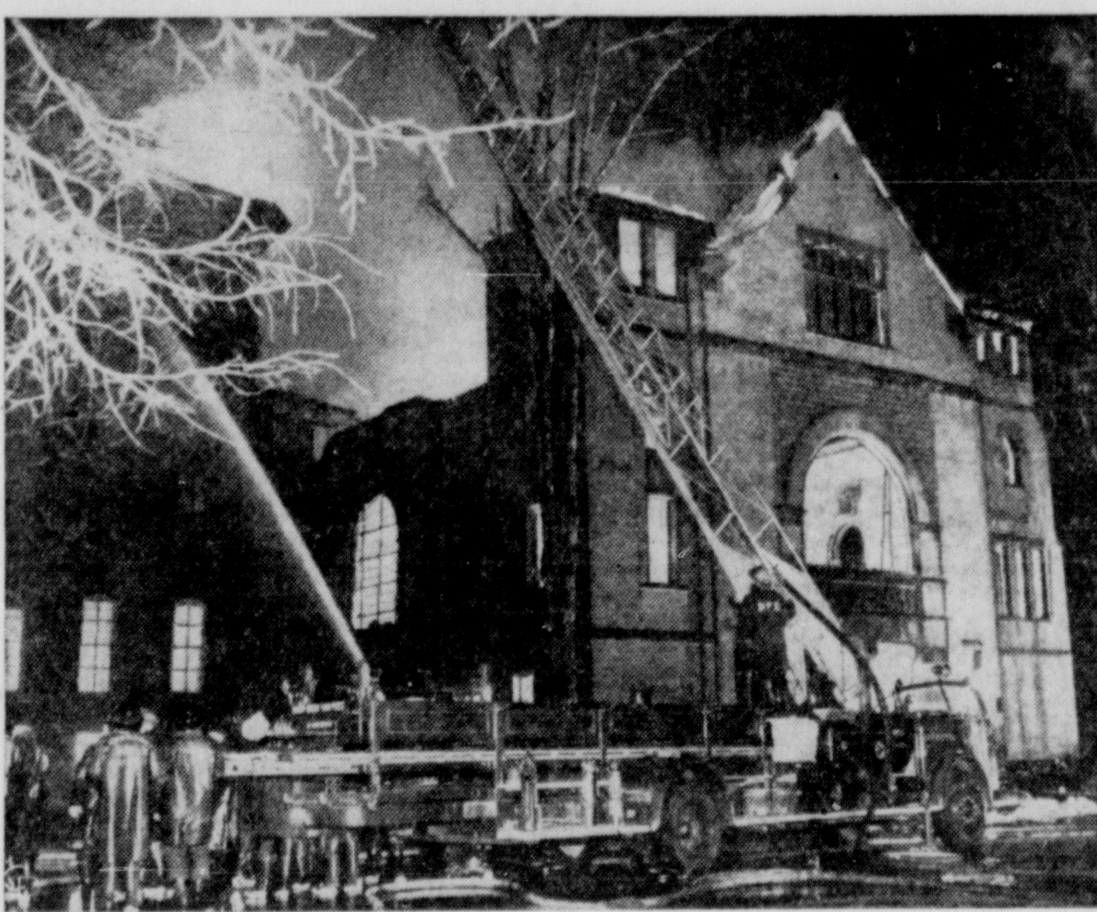

HONG KONG, April 14 (AP)—Communist China announced that construction started today on a monumental project to harness the Yellow River, an ancient renegade whose raging floods have drowned untold millions.

The roar of a dynamite blast signaled the start of work on the huge Sanmen Gorge Dam in central China—opening phase of a long range plan to tame the muddy river called "China's Sorrow."

Special broadcasts dramatized the ceremony at the craggy site where the Reds hope to raise a concrete dam with a reservoir big enough to halt the river's swift flow for four days.

Firemen Battle College Blaze

Working in below-freezing temperature, firemen battle a blaze which destroyed the chapel and a dormitory section of the Lake Erie College for Girls in Painesville, Ohio, and routed some 250 students clad only in their night clothes. Damage was estimated at a million dollars. No one was injured in the mass evacuation.

Any Reduction In USIA Budget Opposed By Ike

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—President Eisenhower views with "deep concern" the prospect of a big funds cut in U. S. propaganda world.

But Rep. Rooney (D-N.Y.), chairman of a House Appropriations subcommittee, figures the American taxpayer hasn't been getting his money's worth in the way the U. S. Information Agency has been run.

26% Slash Approved

The outcome so far: The Appropriations Committee has approved, for a House vote this week, a USIA money bill for the new fiscal year starting July 1 that has been slashed 26 per cent below Eisenhower's request.

At 106 million dollars, the measure is 38 millions short of the Eisenhower budget and seven millions under what USIA got last year.

Eisenhower's and Rooney's conflicting views were made public today in an exchange of letters released by Rooney. Rooney read the Eisenhower letter to a closed committee session Friday, just before the group sustained the subcommittee cut.

American's "Voice Of Truth"

Eisenhower's letter, dated April 9, said, "I must express my deep concern over the possibility of a slash in this budget."

The President called the USIA budget of "critical importance" because he said, "Imperatively, in key areas of the world, America's voice of truth must become more clearly heard."

"There is pressing need for expansion of our informational functions in the Near East, Africa and the Far East . . .," Eisenhower wrote.

Israel Pumping Oil Through New Line

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, April 14 (AP)—Israel began pumping oil through part of its new eight-inch Eilat-Beersheba pipeline today.

The initial phase was limited to one section of the line, on the Eilat end of the 135-mile route which crosses the Negeb desert from south to north.

Oil was pumped at a rate of 70 tons an hour to an intermediary storage point. If the first phase goes without a hitch, pumping as far as the Beersheba terminal will start, probably by the end of this month.

The oil was pumped from newly constructed storage tanks on the Eilat waterfront, where it was received last week from the American tanker Kern Hills.

NICE, France, April 14 (AP)—The ailing Aga Khan now weighs only 132 pounds, little more than half what he weighed a decade ago, his wife told reporters today.

The 79-year-old Ismaili Moslem leader is suffering from a respiratory infection. His wife said his condition has improved somewhat in the last few days but is still serious.

French Novelist Hurt In Smashup Of Her Race Car

PARIS, April 14 (AP)—Speed-loving novelist Francoise Sagan, 21, was gravely injured today when she smashed up her British racing car. She sank into a coma after being carried to a Paris hospital.

Doctors said she was suffering from severe shock, internal injuries, and trauma. She showed no signs of regaining consciousness. She was placed in an oxygen tent.

The Maillot Clinic was jammed with admirers and well-wishers as news of the accident spread.

Miss Sagan gained worldwide fame as author of "Bonjour Tristesse" and "A Certain Smile," one of few authors to ever have had such tremendous success so young.

The accident's cause was a mystery to police.

The car somersaulted on a clear road near Paris, bounced over a wide ditch and landed upside down in a field.

3 Youths Steal Air Base Safe

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—A 450-pound safe containing $34,882 in D. C. Air National Guard payroll checks was taken from Andrews Air Force base near here early today.

A few hours later police arrested three youths who they said had the safe in their car. They said the youths admitted taking the safe.

The trio, including an Air National Guardsman, were arrested near Churchton, Md., by Anne Arundel County police. The police were tipped by someone who saw the young men unloading the safe into a summer cottage near Chesapeake Bay.

FBI Agent D. K. Brown of Baltimore identified the guardsman as Alfred L. Pierce, 20, of Alexandria, Va. He said a 17-year-old Camp Springs, Md. boy and a 16-year-old Alexandria youth were with him.

The guardsman, police said, was on duty supposedly guarding the safe when it was taken.

The three are scheduled for arraignment before the U. S. commissioner in Baltimore Monday at 10 a.m. on charges of committing a criminal act on government property and of stealing government property. They were being held tonight in the Anne Arundel police cell block at Edgewater, Md.

Byrd, Bridges Expect Senate Economy Drive

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—Sens. Byrd (D-Va.) and Bridges (R-NH) predicted today the Senate will sustain a "major share" of the more than a billion dollars the House has cut from President Eisenhower's money requests.

Byrd, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said he thinks there is "a new attitude" in favor of economy among senators who traditionally have restored much of the money the House trims from the regular appropriation bills.

Senate May Cut Deeper

Bridges, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee and top GOP member of the Appropriations Committee, said in a separate interview he believes that in some instances the Senate may cut even deeper than the House.

"Some of the funds the House members have reduced are going to be increased," he said. "On the other hand, I think we may go below the amount allowed by the House. I think it will balance out to the point where we will sustain a major share of the savings."

Byrd's Analysis

Byrd said that as he analyzes the situation, claimed House reductions of $1,100,000,000 in eight money bills actually would result in a 660-million-dollar cut in Eisenhower's $71,800,000,000 spending budget for the year beginning July 1.

The Virginia senator said that of appropriations made in the regular money bills about 60 per cent goes for expenditures in the year for which they are made. About 40 per cent, he said, represents authorizations for future years and thus do not bear directly on the spending in the new fiscal year.

Convicted Langley Awaits Court Move

PORTLAND, Ore., April 14 (AP)—County Dist. Atty. William Langley, convicted of failing to prosecute gambling, remained in office today awaiting a court move by his attorneys.

After a Circuit Court jury found Langley guilty, 11-1, yesterday, his counsel asked for an arrest judgment. Judge Frank Loneragan granted it and set Monday at 2 p.m. for arguments on the motion. Langley is expected to appeal the verdict, should the judge rule against him.

Two Buried Under Auto By Avalanche Rescued

DURANGO, Colo., April 14 (AP)—"We're lucky to be alive," a New Mexico mother said today after an avalanche roaring down a southwestern Colorado mountain-side swept four members of her family off a highway and buried two of them for 10 minutes before rescuers could dig them out.

Mrs. Charles Ruckman of Farmington, N.M. said she was able to outrun the snowslide which trapped her sister, Alice Walther, 28, of Dallas, Tex. and her 1-year-old daughter, Kristy Ruckman, under one of two cars tumbled from U.S. Highway 550 by 15-foot-deep snow five miles north of Silverton, Colo., late yesterday.

They were freed by highway workmen clearing snow from an earlier slide on the road across Red Mountain, known as the "Million Dollar Highway."

They were taken to a Silverton hospital and transferred early today to Mercy Hospital here for further treatment and observation. Both suffered shock and "partial suffocation," doctors said, and Miss Walther will be examined further for possible internal injuries. The Ruckman child will be kept at the hospital several days for observation.

Ruckman and another daughter, Marcee, 3, were carried off the road by the slide but were able to scramble to safety. The father suffered a sprained ankle and Marcee a head bruise.

Jordan King's Military Coup Bolsters Hand

Pro-Egyptian Army Elements Expelled; Clashes Reported

DAMASCUS, Syria, April 14 (AP)—King Hussein of Jordan drove out pro-Egyptian elements in his army and government today in a military coup d'etat.

Maj. Gen. Ali Abu Nawar, army chief of staff, was deported to Syria and ousted Premier Suleiman Nabulsi was reported under house arrest.

At least two clashes were reported between army units loyal to Hussein and pro-Egyptian army elements. Tanks guarded the royal palace.

The Jordanian radio said the Arab Legion had put down an attempted army coup against the King and pledged its loyalty to Hussein.

Crowds supporting the popular Nabulsi were reported demonstrating wildly in Jordan's towns on the western border with Israel. A strike against the King's action was threatened.

Nawar fled to Damascus. He conferred at length with top officials of Syria, strongly allied to Egypt.

The King was supported by Maj. Gen. Ali Hayari, whom he named the new chief of staff.

Pro-Iraq Coup D'Etat

Other ministers in Nabulsi's Cabinet also were detained, it was reported here. A number of Nabulsi's followers in Jordan's Parliament also were driven from the country. Some already have arrived in Damascus.

Hussein's measures were described here as a pro-Iraq coup d'etat.

Iraq, ruled by Hussein's cousin, King Faisal, is allied with the West in the anti-Communist Baghdad Pact, an alliance bitterly opposed by the governments of Syria and Egypt.

Censorship imposed in Jordan during the crisis caused by Hussein's dismissal of Nabulsi last week has cut communications with that country. The reports from Damascus could not be confirmed from Amman.)

Reliable sources said the King acted after a clash between a desert regiment loyal to Hussein and pro-Nawar soldiers at a military base at Zarka, a town 30 miles northeast of Amman, Jordan's capital.

Three pro-Nawar officers were killed, 10 wounded and 10 captured in the fighting between Jordanian army units at Zarka.

Unconfirmed reports said another clash occurred between pro-Hussein and pro-Nawar army elements at Ajloun on Jordan's northern border.

Nawar Called To Palace

Nawar was summoned to Hussein's palace, which then was surrounded by tanks under Hayari's orders. A royal decree was issued dismissing Nawar and naming Hayari to replace him.

Nawar was sent out of the country with his wife, parents and children and reached Damascus tonight.

The Syrian government intends to give him and the followers of Nabulsi political asylum.

Syria's ambassador to Jordan, Fouad Kadamani, arrived here from Amman with a message from Hussein to President Shukri Kuwatly. Its contents were not disclosed.

The reports from Jordan said wild anti-Hussein demonstrations in three Jordanian cities, Jerusalem, Nablus and Ramallah, preceded the King's moves against Nawar and Nabulsi.

Some of the demonstrators shouted demands that Jordan be merged with Syria. At Ramallah, the crowd broke into the government-controlled radio station and halted transmissions. Amman radio also went off the air.

Deaths And Funerals In The Tri-State Area

Va. Youth Killed In Auto Accident

Vernon Dow Turner, 20, of near Bergton, Va., was killed instantly late Friday night when the car he was driving left West Virginia Route 259 while rounding a turn approximately six miles from the West Virginia-Virginia line, near Mathias, and struck a sycamore tree.

According to Corporal C. H. Hamrick, of the Moorefield detachment of West Virginia State Police, who investigated, the victim was evidently traveling at a speed too great to negotiate the turn.

Tire marks revealed that Turner had run approximately 300 feet along the berm of the road and over an embankment before striking the tree which was uprooted by the impact. The tree which Hamrick stated was approximately 75 feet in height, toppled across the top of the car and crushed the victim's head.

Burglars Get $50 At "Teepee"

FROSTBURG — Mrs. Hazel Wilson, 219 Maple Street, who operates the "Teepee" on Bowery Street reported to the city police that someone entered her place of business after closing hours recently by breaking a cellar window then coming up through the floor into the business establishment through a trapdoor. After gaining entrance to the first floor where she operates a tavern, the thieves who apparently were well acquainted with the premises secured a key to the automatic music machine from the drawer of the cash register where it was always kept, opened the juke box and took approximately $50 in currency and coin from the metal coin box.

Mrs. Wilson often made change from the coin box in the music machine, placing large bills in the metal box in place of the coins taken for use in her business. According to the police report, at the time of the robbery the box contained a $20 bill, two tens, a five and a quantity of small coins.

City police have checked the premises carefully and are conducting a thorough investigation of the case.

Jordan King Close To Losing Throne

CAIRO, April 14 (P)—The latest wave of trouble rolling over Jordan may be the beginning of the end of a dynasty Jordanians never have considered their own.

Reports breaking through heavy censorship indicated the immediate crisis is nearing its end, but everyone who knows Jordan admits King Hussein is dangerously close to losing his throne.

During the crisis he was cast in the role of enemy rather than champion of Arab nationalism. And he has taken a line in opposition to Egypt's President Nasser, still the greatest single hero to Jordan street mobs.

A report from Hussein's palace today on the suppression of troublemakers inside the army shows at least the army's loyalties have been divided. This was pointed up by a dispatch reporting Hussein had deported to Syria his youthful chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Ali Abu Nawar.

The greatest threat to Hussein is not from the army, but from an explosive population numbering many embittered Palestine Arabs who blame the West for the loss of their homes when the State of Israel was created.

Palestinians contend Hussein's dynastic family, the Hashimites, were traitors and British stooges from the beginning.

When he sacked British Gen. John Bagot Glubb last year as commander of the army, Hussein was momentarily hailed by the mobs as a real Arab patriot.

When he tossed out the popular nationalistic government of Sulaiman Nabulsi last week, however, Hussein revived in the public mind memories of the Hashimites as tools of the Western Powers. The dynasty does not command such fundamental loyalty of the people as, for instance, the Iranians give to their Shah.

Jordanian politicians generally have resented Hussein's determination to rule as well as reign.

Wind-Driven Ships Hit Span

PORTLAND, Ore., April 14 (P)—A howling wind storm tore two condemned ships loose from their moorings and sent them crashing into a Willamette River bridge today.

The impact tore out 50 feet of railing and crumpled 75 feet of sidewalk on the bridge, which was closed to traffic pending a complete survey of damage.

It was the Hawthorne Street Bridge, one of eight carrying automobile traffic across the river, which flows through the center of Portland.

No one was injured. South winds toppled trees and signboards and knocked out electrical service in some areas of western Oregon. Gusts up to 73 miles an hour were recorded at Portland before the winds began easing off in the afternoon.

The two ocean-going ships, the former Lewis Luckenbach of about 14,000 tons and the former Chateau Thierry of about 12,000 tons, were tied up at wrecking dock. They were to be cut into scrap.

Both formerly were freighters that were converted to hospital ships.

The wind carried the ships tied side by side into midchannel where wind and river currents swept them downstream a half-mile into the bridge.

"They might have crashed right through the bridge if two fireboats had not slowed them down," said Joseph Rultrauff, a bridge attendant.

The two city fireboats managed to catch the runaways, slow them down and turn them so that they eased broadside into the structure, instead of slicing head-on into the steel girder bridge.

The Internal Revenue Service estimates that 60 million individual returns will be filed and that 55 million of them will bring in cash — an estimated 38½ billion dollars. Some people have to file returns but don't make enough money to be taxed after deductions.

Mother Slashes Throats Of Children

DAYTON, Ohio, April 14 (P)—A 34-year-old Dayton mother today slashed two of her children's throats with a butcher knife, officers said, then slashed her own throat and wrists. Her oldest son died.

The mother, Mrs. Jessie E. Hockensmith, was reported in serious condition at Miami Valley Hospital here, police said. The dead boy is William Jr., 12.

A daughter, Jo Carol, 10, was reported in fair condition, officers said.

County Hoping

(Continued from Page 12) the assessable base in fixing the tax rate, it is believed the $147,000,000 used to get the $2.05 tax rate last year will be increased.

According to the Maryland State Tax Commission as of Friday, the county has an assessable or taxable base of $157,748,156 which can be used in figuring the current levy. It is pointed out that while $147,000,000 was used as the base for the current year, taxes have been or will be collected by the end of the fiscal year on a total assessable base of $152,921,000. The difference is known as "cushion."

While this money is actually collected in taxes, it is not allocated to or spent by any particular department. Therefore it becomes a surplus and is applied to the next fiscal year's tax levy.

In the current year, the county had a cushion or surplus of $248,012.74.

In the current year, based upon receipts and expenditures to date, plus accounts receivable and unappropriated tax collections, it is possible that the surplus will reach an estimated $400,000, maybe more.

With the larger surplus, plus the larger assessable base, combined with some paring here and there, the county commissioners may be able to hold the tax rate at $2.05, or even to pare it a penny or two.

Informed observers believe the rate may not be raised. Some believe it might be dropped a penny or two, maybe more, but the county commissioners themselves have made no public comment and merely say, "We are still figuring."

In the United States, half dollars last the longest of the coins, while dimes wear out the quickest. Most coins have a life of about 30 years. Paper money isn't usable after about one year.

Eden's Condition "Satisfactory"

BOSTON, April 14 (P)—Former British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden, recuperating from a 75-minute liver operation, today was reported in "satisfactory" condition after a "reasonably comfortable night."

The Lahey Clinic bulletin added: "There is a mild degree of fever which is normal postoperative reaction at this time."

The 59-year-old Eden underwent his fourth operation in as many years yesterday to remove an obstruction in a bile duct which caused frequent fever attacks.

An artificial biliary tube inserted in 1953 by Dr. Richard Cattell of Lahey Clinic, who also performed yesterday's surgery, was to have been removed but was found to have passed into the intestines and out of the system. Surgeons explained that this often happens but they had no way of knowing it was gone because such a tube does not show up in X-rays.

Following the operation the trio of doctors said Sir Anthony withstood the surgery well and there was no malignancy.

Today Is Last Day To File Tax Return

WASHINGTON, April 14 (P)—Tomorrow is the deadline for filing 1956 income tax returns to the federal government. And, as usual, it's expected to set off a frantic flurry of action by the procrastinators.

The Internal Revenue Service estimates that 60 million individual returns will be filed and that 55 million of them will bring in cash — an estimated 38½ billion dollars. Some people have to file returns but don't make enough money to be taxed after deductions.

Ike Makes Leisurely Return Trip To D.C.

WASHINGTON, April 14 (P)—President Eisenhower returned to the White House today at a leisurely pace after a weekend at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

The President made the 80-mile trip in 2 hours and 10 minutes, traveling at the posted speed limits all the way. Eisenhower's cavalcade of autos has kept at the slowed-down pace since a mile furor was created a few weeks ago when reporters trying to keep up with the President were slowed down by police who said they were speeding.

However, the bright weather brought such heavy traffic today that the cars following Eisenhower had some trouble with other drivers cutting in.

Teeners' Battle Almost Ends In Tragedy

BOSTON, April 14 (P)—A 15-year-old white boy, described by Police Lt. Francis Gannon as "a nice kid, minding his own business," was stabbed and thrown into a subway pit last night during a fight between white and Negro boys and girls following a rock 'n' roll show.

Kenneth Myers of Medford, who missed touching a live third rail by inches and clambered out of the pit only seconds before a train roared into North Station, was reported in fair condition today at Massachusetts General Hospital.

Myers, along with some 10,000 other teen-agers, had attended a rock 'n' roll show featuring a majority of Negro performers. He did not realize immediately he was wounded, Gannon said.

Myers boarded a train and traveled two stations before he felt weak. Joseph Fenney, a Metropolitan Transit Authority starter, took the boy to the hospital after he opened his coat and saw blood.

Gannon said, "The fight was senseless. There was no good reason for it, but we expect difficulty every time a rock 'n' roll show comes in."

The lieutenant said "The Negro youths were responsible for it." Gannon said that during the fight a companion of Myers, Richard ard Nugent, 14, also of Medford, was knocked to the subway platform by a group of Negro boys and then kicked.

"Some white girls waded in and picked Nugent up," Gannon said. Nugent was treated by his family physician for cuts and bruises when he arrived home.

Gannon said only the arrival of the subway train prevented the fight from intensifying.

The Danger Line On Highway Speed

Most drivers have their own ideas about how fast they can safely operate their cars. And, human conceit being what it is, these same drivers probably wouldn't grant others similar latitude. Therefore it should not be hard to assemble statistics showing that such self-assurance does not create the best accident records.

The foregoing is by way of noting that the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies, after four years of research, has concluded that 50 miles an hour is the demarcation line between reasonable speed limits and speed limits which compound the nation's traffic problems. Safety authorities, it was found, are convinced that even under the most ideal conditions 60 miles an hour should be the absolute legal maximum.

The survey's conclusions are supported by findings that states with no speed limits or with speed limits topping 50 miles an hour average 50 per cent higher in their traffic fatality rate than do states in which 50 is the legal maximum. Only one of the states with the 50-mile limit had a fatality rate as high as the national average, while only 24 per cent of states with higher limits succeeded in staying below the national average.

Why should not better engineered highways and cars make it possible to raise speed limits safely? The same old reasons. One of them is that the human body has not changed along with man-made things. National Safety Council statistics show that 31 out of every 100 drivers involved in fatal accidents were either exceeding posted speed limits or safe speed limits in cases where there was no stated limit. An additional 11 drivers were guilty of speed-associated law violations; 23 more had committed still other violations.

The case could be rested at that point.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Mixed-Up Policies

The Middle East is as much a muddle today as it was a year ago, if not more so, and the Eisenhower Doctrine and the preachments of John Foster Dulles and the legalisms of Dag Hammarskjöld have produced no end to the belligerency of Egypt or the Jihad of Saudi Arabia or the inclination of Israel to risk its future on the ordeal of arms. Not since the 8th century has there been such a propulsion of Islamic enthusiasm for power.

All that has been accomplished thus far by American diplomacy has been to reduce the authority of Great Britain in the Middle East, to smash the French North African Empire, to imperil the existence of Israel and to drive Nasser into a closer association with Soviet Russia. Should another local war break out in the Middle East, will the United States find itself allied with Soviet Russia against Western Europe? And to what end? Or shall we wait until the Marxist Universal State discovers in Islam a direct competitor and then shall we find ourselves in alliance with Nasser against Russia and Red China?

The peril is that local wars are liable to break out in the Middle East all the time. Quite apart from the Israel-Egypt situation, Jordan, which was manufactured and subsidized by Great Britain, is likely to pass away like the winds of its own deserts. Will it be absorbed by Saudi Arabia or by Syria? If by Saudi Arabia, does Jerusalem remain partitioned; if by Syria, does Jerusalem come under Russian influence? Will Jordan's future be settled peacefully or will there be a war over it? The United States has undertaken to train a Saudi Arabian army, navy and air force. It does not amount to much and the President was authorized by Congress to spend some extra money in Middle Eastern countries. But should King Saud attempt to add Jordan to his territory, would the United States be a party to this sort of colonialism, while objecting to British and French and Dutch colonialism? In the pragmatic guess-work that has become American policy, is colonialism virtuous when practiced by an African or Asiatic nation and evil when practiced by a European country?

There seems to be no consistency in our thinking or in the execution of our foreign policy. Certainly Nasser, who has not exhibited any gratitude for the United States rescuing him from defeat by Great Britain, France and Israel, is still being pampered by American diplomacy, which hopes somehow to wean him away from the Russians who are again using Egypt as a base for the provisioning of Arabic countries with arms and munitions. Should Nasser turn on Russia, at our prompting, are we prepared to fight Russia over the Middle East? Should Nasser disappoint us by continuing his alliance with Russia, what steps do we plan to take to redeem our position in the Middle East? In a word, have we not moved into a trap which makes war with Soviet Russia over the Middle East an inevitability?

Or to argue conversely, do the Russians need a war in the Middle East while Egypt and Syria work for them in all Arabic countries, meanwhile paralyzing Western opposition to Soviet Russia by lulling the American State Department into a condition of desuetude? Obviously, if Russia can take over the Middle East without war, it is more efficient and smarter to do it that way than to shoulder the burdens of war. Therefore, it is to be presumed that the Russians will continue to employ political means. Thus far, Russia has been extremely successful in the use of political rather than military weapons.

And there is another advantage in that, namely, that when Westerners see that no general war, involving Russia, occurs, it is assumed that conditions are improving and that right policies are being pursued.

It need never be forgotten that Russia achieved her greatest victory, the conquest of China by Marxism, while the West was pre-occupied with the romantic excitements of the Berlin Airlift. There is no reason why we cannot keep our eye on the ball and in the Middle East, our particular ball is the emergence of the Nazi-inspired dictator, Nasser, supported by Communist Russia.

The Chips Begin To Fall

It's 'Shout, Not Shoot' In The Peace Army

GAZA

By Joseph Alsop

Out through the suburbs of Gaza town, heavy by night with the conflicting scent of blossoming lemon trees and the odor of open Arab plumbing, the jeep bounces over the rough road to the border of the Gaza Strip.

The border is not far; indeed, the lights of an Israeli kibbutz, brilliant as diamonds against the night's black velvet, seem near enough to come from one of Gaza's suburbs.

Five minutes of bouncing and the jeep is being parked among the headquarters tents of the Danor Battalion — the outfit which the Danes and Norwegians have jointly contributed to the United Nations force in Egypt.

In the officers' mess, the Arab cook somewhat eccentrically offers rice-pudding instead of smorgasbord. But the schnapps is excellent, and the genial, hard-headed Scandinavian talk of the startlingly blond men around the table makes the meal an agreeable interlude.

"What are we here for?" they ask themselves wryly.

One of the younger officers replies succinctly: "To be Nasser's border guard." And Maj. Sigurd Wiik, the deputy battalion commander, mildly rebukes this cynicism.

When dinner is over, the jeep bounces onward, now over mere tracks through wheat fields and lemon groves that drown all senses with odor. The jeep comes to the forward headquarters of Company Hoppi—so called in the old Danish manner after the tall, young company commander, Maj. Jon Hoppi.

The major is giving a little party for some Norwegian officers who are being rotated home. But the time for the patrol is at hand.

The patrol begins from an outpost commanded by a sleepy lieutenant. The five young Danes, smartly turned out and fully armed, are led by Sgt. Ole Andersen. Later, the sergeant means to be a chemical engineer. But now the double accident of the Suez crisis and his military service has brusquely transported Sgt. Andersen from Copenhagen's smiling streets to these fields near Gaza town.

It was there that Samson pulled down the temple long ago, and there that the same old conflict between Israel and her neighbors was so bitterly renewed.

As night patrols go, this one was not arduous — forty-five minutes to the next outpost and then back again, when another patrol swings out to cover the same strip of border. But Sgt. Andersen conducts his patrol with military efficiency, maintaining silence, marching briskly but quietly, halting at intervals to listen to the night noises.

In the soft, star-studded darkness, it is good going at first

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Who remembers when Mussolini's engineers were going to turn the Nile into the Red Sea? Or back in 1858 when England voted against digging of the Suez?

Before that Napoleon recognized the strategic importance of a sunken terrace between the Red Sea and the Bay of Pelusium. He was going fine until Lord Nelson gave him the double-take with one eye.

Before the Primo went through in 1867 an unknown coal barge had been tugged through the deep gutter by equally unknown mules.

Before England nixed the Canal the Caliph Omar flattened the proposition in 640. Omar wasn't feeling so good. His tent was in the laundry.

Who was the mysterious Mr. Hawkshaw who glommed the digging with the Sultan of Turkey in 1863? He suggested they fill it in and make it a boulevard.

The Rothschilds fronted for England in 1875 when the Khedive ran low on frankincense, nargilehs, sweet music of rebecks and harem co-eds.

They bought up the Khedive's 176,602 shares for about $20,000. If the Amsterdam Dutch had been negotiating they would have thrown in a bottle of booze.

So the egg has come full oval. The English didn't want it in the first place.

Len Hall Asked Teamsters Leader For Truckers' Support, Not His Own

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Newspaper denials are a dime a dozen in Washington these days. They are the easiest statement for a politician to make. He knows the denial will get headlines and half the public will believe it. The other half won't. Final result: nobody quite knows the truth.

Last week Len Hall, ex-chairman of the Republican National Committee, issued a ringing, righteous denial that he had ever solicited the help of Dave Beck in the last campaign. A statement to the contrary had come from Arthur Condon, personal attorney for Beck.

Mr. Condon is a highly reputable attorney. He does not lie. Therefore, who was telling the truth?

The answer took some probing, but is highly interesting. Technically Len Hall was telling the truth. In a broader sense, Condon was. Hall did not seek Dave Beck's support for Eisenhower; he already had it. He was seeking Dave Beck's support in getting the trucking industry to support Eisenhower.

Beck has always been a Republican, and as Teamsters' executive vice president, had begun to buck his late boss, Dan Tobin, and the latter's ardent FDR friendship.

Len Hall, therefore, appealed to Condon to get Beck's help in putting the trucking industry behind Ike.

Sherman Adams Phoned

Condon is the attorney not only for Beck, but for the independent advisory committee to the trucking industry. Hall knew this. He also knew that the truckers in Washington state were supporting Sen. Warren Magnuson, Democrat, and in Oregon, Sen. Wayne Morse, Democrat. He knew that campaign contributions hadn't come in from the truckers as expected. So Hall appealed to Condon.

There followed a meeting right inside the White House in the office of assistant president Sherman Adams. Present were Hall himself, Beck, Adams, Condon, Bert Seymour, who is head of associated Transport and also of the advisory trucking committee; Walter Carey, former head of the American Trucking Association; and Roy Fruehauf, head of Fruehauf Trailers.

At the meeting it was proposed that certain things be done to placate the trucking industry, then irked at Ike over Secretary Weeks' transportation report favoring the railroads, at the taxes placed on truckers in the highway bill, and at the tight money policy, which, though not aimed at truckers, hurt them.

It was finally agreed that the Weeks transportation policy and the highway bill were water over the dam, but that something could be done about hard money. Sherman Adams, therefore, got on the phone to Wendell Barnes, head of the Small Business Administration, and told him to ease credit for truckers.

Barnes then set up a task force, which resulted in relaxing small business loan requirements for truckers.

It was also proposed that Beck and Fruehauf go to Puerto Rico and make some pro-labor speeches which, it was figured, would influence the Puerto Rican vote in New York City. This, however, never came off.

Beck and most of the truckers, however, threw their weight behind Ike, and Hall was grateful.

Build-Up For Beck

He was so grateful that in December, after Ike had won, he got in touch with Condon, told him he was leaving as chairman of the GOP sometime in February, but had talked over with Sherman Adams the idea of building up

Dave Beck. He said that Richard Gulyay, his assistant on the Republican National Committee, was also leaving to go into public relations and might take on the project of making Beck the great Republican labor leader.

It was definitely agreed, therefore, that Gulyay would come to work with and for Beck as soon as he resigned, which was to be in February. The talk was in early December.

Late in December when the first rumblings leaked out of the McClellan committee that Beck might be in trouble, there was further discussion with Hall, when it was agreed that the White House would find a foreign assignment for Beck which would make him a knight in shining armor, above politics.

This was why Beck went abroad so confidently and stayed there.

His appointment as an International Labor Organization delegate was already in the works, but he was promised something above and beyond this. As late as three or four days before Beck abruptly returned to the USA, Secretary of Labor Mitchell told Condon that Eisenhower didn't want Beck relieved, and that the ILO appointment would stand. He did caution that the State Department might have the final word.

In the end, however, Mitchell himself took the initiative in dropping Beck.

During the discussions of last fall and summer, incidentally, Len Hall et al knew that Beck had income tax difficulties. But there seemed to be a comfortable feeling that this was only a civil case and all would be settled.

There are two epilogues to the story:

1. When Beck's friends finally got together with Gulyay on Feb. 14 to discuss the public relations job he was going to do for Beck, Gulyay said he was sorry, but he couldn't do anything for a labor guy. He had thought, he said, he was going to do a job for the trucking industry.

2. In the Teamsters headquarters hangs a photo of Beck, Eisenhower, Fruehauf, Condon and Seymour, taken in those halcyon days last fall when Beck was running in and out of the White House every week and everyone was calling him "Dave."

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

Let's live for love and pleasure, Careless what the serious may say
When each moment is a treasure
Why should lovers lose a day?
Give me then a thousand kisses,
Twice ten thousand more bestow
Till the sum of boundless blisses
Neither we nor envy know.

The air-conditioned theatre is far from a new idea. Over 75 years ago, in 1880 to be exact, the Madison Square Theatre, New York, advertised that it was "Cooled By Ice Air." And so cooled it kept open all summer. The cooling was accomplished by a combination of ice cakes and blowers.

ASKING

Queries from clients. Q. I say Jack Benny introduced the song titled "Singing In The Rain" in a film: Right? A. Wrong, sir. Cliff Edwards introduced that song in the film, "Hollywood Revue of 1929." However, Jack Benny, who was in the cast of that film, did sing a chorus of song referred to. . . . Q. When is Mothers-In-Law Day? I would like to know so I can enjoy ignoring it. A. March 8 is Mothers-In-Law Day but it has only been celebrated in Texas. The originator was that clever newspaperman, Gene Howe of Amarillo, Texas.

TOGETHER AGAIN

Was very nice to see George Gobel and Jeff Donnell teamed again as man and wife on television. George, Jeff and Jack Carson might make a highly successful trio for a television series. George and Jeff as man and wife with Jack as his bachelor pal.

PASSING BY

Fifi D'Orsay. Highly entertaining Mademoiselle from Montreal. Fifi made her first night club hit in Manhattan down in Greenwich Village singing a ditty titled "I'm A Little Wild Flower Growing Wilder Every Hour." With a French accent, of course.

STILL TOUGH

A harness horse named Little Steve now racing at Santa Anita in California is described as "14 years old, but still tough." This brings to mind that remarkable harness horse, Goldsmith Maid, which was racing when 20 years old and was "still tough." Goldsmith Maid broke a world's record when 19. At 20 she was still a champion.

GIFT LIST

When in New York City recently King Saud of Saudi Arabia visited a famous Manhattan jewelry establishment and bought a watch for each of his brothers and sisters. His majesty's bill for the purchase of these gifts totaled $48,000. He has 40 brothers and 48 sisters.

POPULARITY

Despite all the publicity given to songs featured by Elvis Presley and singers of a similar type the three most popular songs of 1956 were, "On the Street Where You Live," "I Could Have Danced All Night" and "Poor People of Paris." Also it now appears that among the first three leaders of this year's popularity poll will be "True Love," the appealing song from the film titled "High Society."

BRIDES

A recent bride, who had an elaborate church wedding, said that for "something blue" she wore a blue garter. For "something borrowed" she wore a pair of her sister's nylon stockings. She said the "something new" was covered by the wedding dress and "something old" by a tiara she wore. She evidently forgot something. That was the "silver sixpence in her shoe." Most brides of today are very unimaginative. For "something blue" they practically all wear blue garters. Can't they think of anything else that is blue?

DEFINITIONS

W. C. writes: Is hereditary hypertension the same as essential hypertension?

REPLY

By definition, the cause of essential hypertension is not known. One form is hereditary, as it runs in families. But the majority of cases of essential hypertension are due to spasm of the arteries. The emotional make-up that plays a role in high blood pressure may be hereditary.

NOT COMMON

Mrs. A. writes: Can a person get hardening of the arteries of the stomach?

REPLY

Yes, but these vessels are less susceptible than the coronary arteries. Narrowing leads to abdominal pain following a heavy meal in contrast to angina pectoris, in which chest pain follows exertion or emotional upheavals.

DRAINING THE CONTENTS

C. W. writes: What is done in a gall bladder drainage operation?

REPLY

The sac is opened and the contents are drained without removing the gall bladder. This procedure seldom is done nowadays.

SKIN TUMOR

G. V. writes: What is an epithelioma?

REPLY

Skin cancer. It is one of the mildest malignancies and originates in the skin itself. The patient does not necessarily have cancer elsewhere.

PARTIAL BLOCKAGE

D. T. writes: Is there such a thing as a partial coronary thrombosis?

REPLY

Thrombosis means the formation of a clot and it is difficult to conceive of a partial clot. On the other hand, it is possible to have partial obstruction of a coronary artery, leading to a reduction in the flow of blood to the heart muscle. This is a cause of angina pectoris.

Baltimore, Washington To Open Major League Season

Ike To Throw First Ball At Capital Today

Chakales, Brown Will Hurl; Eight Games Set Tuesday

By JACK HAND

Baltimore and Washington, a pair of 100 to 1 shots, get the jump on the rest of the major league clubs Monday with a special opening day at Griffith Stadium where President Eisenhower will throw out the first ball.

The annual business of sifting through the field to uncover the New York Yankees' opponents in the World Series starts in earnest Tuesday with a full schedule of eight games in the two leagues.

Feller, Rosen Gone

Old familiar faces like Bob Feller and Al Rosen are gone, others like Del Ennis, Virgil Trucks and Warren Hacker are wearing new uniforms and three brand new managers grace the scene. Jack Tighe has taken over at Detroit. Kerby Farrell at Cleveland and Bob Scheffing with the Chicago Cubs. Al Lopez, hardly a rookie manager, has moved from Cleveland to the Chicago White Sox.

With Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra in good health and a talent-stacked roster, the Yanks are expected to cakewalk in the American League, perhaps easier than last year.

All observers expect another tight race in the National League which went down to the final day last fall before Brooklyn finally nosed out Milwaukee.

The Dodgers and Braves, co-favorites, probably will fight it out again with Cincinnati also challenging. A long distant threat from St. Louis, if Freddie Hutchinson comes up with some solid pitching, just about sums up the National. Pittsburgh can be pesky and the Phillies tough to score on but puncheon.

28,000 May Attend

If the expected throng of 28,000 shows up at Washington to watch Ike warm up his bill-signing arm, the two-day opening program probably will draw over 275,000. Much depends on the weather, of course, for the Phillies, opening at home against Brooklyn, are darning the elements with a night game Tuesday.

Pittsburgh's fine spring showing of last year is reflected in the estimate of a crowd of 36,000 to watch the Pirates play the New York Giants. This could be the largest of the Tuesday schedule.

Chuck Dressen, starting his third term at Washington, is squirming under the flood of pre-season predictions that have awarded him last place without a struggle. Hoping to get off on the right foot before the home folks, Dressen has named Bob Chakales as a surprise starter against Baltimore's Hec Brown.

Chakales vs Brown

Chakales, 29, started only one game last season. Working on relief in 42 other games, he compiled a 4-4 record. To give Chakales the shot, Dressen passed over his Cuban pair of Camilo Pascual and Pedro Ramos, Brown (9-7) is also a righthander, 32, who made the rounds in the league before he settled down with Manager Paul Richards and the Orioles.

Waynesburg Added To Track Schedule Of Frostburg State

Frostburg State Teachers College has added another track meet to its schedule and will engage in a total of six meets this year, Coach Kenneth Babcock announced yesterday.

The Bobcats will engage Waynesburg College at the latter place in the final meet of the season, May 13.

Frostburg's next meet is a triangular affair with Mt. St. Mary's and Fairmont State at either Frostburg or Fort Hill stadium, Wednesday, May 1. The Bobcats will engage Towson and Salisbury Teachers at Towson, May 3, and face West Virginia Wesleyan College at Buckhannon, May 8.

Coach Babcock's thirteens finished third in a meet at Fairmont Saturday with 44½ points. Fairmont's Falcons won with 65½ points and Waynesburg was runner-up with 32. Frostburg's first place winners were Gilpin in the 220 yards dash, Willison in the 880 yard run and Dawson in the discus throw.

Maryland Gridders Leaves Infirmary

COLLEGE PARK, Md., April 14 —Hallback Fred Hamilton, injured yesterday in the annual game against an alumni squad, has been released from the University of Maryland infirmary.

Hamilton was held in the infirmary overnight for observation after being jolted on a downfield tackle following a punt.

Duke Wyre, Maryland trainer, said Hamilton was hit in the stomach and knocked unconscious by the impact. Wyre said X-rays are scheduled to be taken tomorrow, but added that the hallback appeared all right today.

Bobcats Play Mt. Union At Midland Park Today

Colleges Meet 6th Time; Capon Bridge To Visit Paw Paw

Mount Union College's Purple Raiders of Alliance, Ohio, will visit the tri-state area for the seventh consecutive year when they play Coach Waldon Skinner's Frostburg State Teachers College tilters today at 2 p. m. at the Midland Baseball Park.

The Ohioans made their first appearance in this section when they met Potomac State at Keyser in 1951.

Ohioans Hold 4-1 Edge

Bad weather knocked out the two games scheduled last season between the Bobcats and Mt. Union but the Purple Raiders played at Frostburg the four previous years, winning four games and losing one. Scores of the games were:

1952—Mount Union 11-5, 1953—Mount Union 14-6, 1954—Frostburg 10-6, 1955—Mount Union 7-1 and 6-3.

Coach Jackson Rafeld's team, a member of the Ohio Conference, posted an overall record of 13 wins, two losses and one tie last year and chalked up seven wins against one defeat in the conference.

The Raiders have a nucleus of 11 lettermen for the 1957 campaign, including a trio of three-year lettermen. Capt. Bill Wyland, second baseman, and Jack Jones, third sacker, and Jim Vogelgesang with a 22-6 career pitching record, head the Ohio aggregation. Vogelgesang blanked Potomac State last year, 3-0. Mount Union plays at Potomac State Friday.

PVC Game Scheduled

Coach Arno Hott's Capon Bridge High School nine will be angling for its third straight win in the Potomac Valley Conference when it meets Paw Paw High's Pirates today at Paw Paw.

Capon Bridge holds 6-5 decisions over West Virginia School for the Deaf and Berkeley Springs. Paw Paw topped Fort Ashby, 3-1, after losing to West Virginia Deaf, 6-0.

Potomac State Wins

Potomac State College defeated Alderson-Broaddus College of Philippi in a West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference game Saturday at Keyser by the score of 8-2. Allen Gates turned in a 6-hit performance for the Catamounts and whiffed eleven.

Frostburg State suffered its second straight loss of the campaign on Saturday, bowing to the West Virginia Freshmen at Morgantown, 5-0. Jack Brodie, former Zihlman (Pen-Mar League) pitching ace, hurled the last two innings for the Mountaineer yearlings but the win went to Chuma, starting pitcher. Carl Emerick went the route for the Bobcats.

In another Saturday game, Berkeley Springs High defeated Southern of Oakland by the score of 8-4 at Berkeley Springs. Gary Henry yielded only four hits and fanned 13 Highlanders in the PVC tilt. Kenny Shaffer was the losing pitcher.

Maryland Trout Season Will Get Under Way Today

Maryland's trout season opens today and runs for a period of five months.

Trout streams in Western Maryland are reported to be in excellent shape for the 5:30 a. m. opening. The fisherman must be off the streams by 8 p. m. The season ends Sept. 15.

Those who go home today with empty creels shouldn't be discouraged. Records indicate half of the state's anglers fail to make a single catch all season.

Streams in the 10 trout counties of the state have been stocked within the past several weeks with about 50,000 choice brook, brown and rainbow trout. More will be added later in the season. All 125,000 trout released by the Game and Inland Fish Commission each year are of legal size. Anglers are allowed five trout a day. The minimum size is seven inches.

This will be the last year for the $1.50 fishing license. Gov. McKeldin has signed into law a bill from the 1957 Legislature which raised the resident license to $3, effective January 1, 1958.

Pennsylvania's trout season opens today at 5 a. m. and closes Sept. 20. For lake trout the season ends Nov. 30. The minimum size is six inches. The limit is eight. West Virginia's season opens April 27.

Coach Babcock's thirteens finished third in a meet at Fairmont Saturday with 44½ points. Fairmont's Falcons won with 65½ points and Waynesburg was runner-up with 32. Frostburg's first place winners were Gilpin in the 220 yards dash, Willison in the 880 yard run and Dawson in the discus throw.

Berkeley Springs Will Host Annual PVC Meet On May 4

Berkeley Springs High School will play host to the annual Potomac Valley Conference track and field meet, Saturday, May 4, according to Gerard Calhoun, coach at Berkeley Springs.

Last year Berkeley Springs won the meet.

A triangular meet in which Berkeley Springs, Hedgesville and Shepherdstown will participate is scheduled for today at Berkeley Springs.

Stan Leonard Wins Tourney At Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N.C., April 14 —Stan Leonard, 40-year-old Canadian with 17 years professional experience, birdied four holes in a row on the front nine today and held on for a three-stroke victory in the $15,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

Leonard, playing from Lachute, Canada, finished with a one under par 69 for a 72-hole total of 276, four under par, and a three-stroke edge over Mike Souchak of Grossinger's, N.Y.

The victory was worth $2,000 for Leonard and was his first in three years of campaigning on the U.S. circuit.

Leonard, who was reluctant to leave a good club job for the life of a circuit player, has won the Canadian PGA title five times. Last Sunday he started the final round of the Augusta Masters Tournament one stroke out of first place, but a string of six successive bogies on the back nine dropped him far out of contention.

Leonard, playing with Souchak and Ford, saw Souchak match his out-going 32 to remain two shots back of the Canadian.

From that point it turned into a head to head duel between the two. Leonard lost one stroke of his lead by three putting the 11th. Each took a bogey on 12 and then they made foures on the next three holes. This left Leonard one stroke in front with three to go. He parred the short 16th and gained a shot when Souchak went over the green.

Despite a bogey five on the 17th, Leonard moved to a three-stroke lead as Souchak almost put a ball out of bounds and wound up with a six. Each birdied the 45-yard 18th.

Leonard followed Souchak's example by twirling his cap across the green after sinking the deciding putt.

"I started to sag a little bit on that back nine and missed a careless putt on the 11th when I learned what the other boys were doing," he said.

Sam Sneed of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., after his seventh Greensboro victory and third in a row, had a 71 for 284 and tied for eighth place, winning $800.

Boston Hockeyists Stop Montreal, 2-0

BOSTON, April 14 —Boston edged Montreal 2-0 on rookie goalie Don Simmons' second Stanley Cup shutout tonight to keep alive its faint hopes for hockey's top prize.

Two goals by Fleming Mackell helped foil Montreal's bid for a four game sweep of the series. Mackell, a native of Montreal, has been the Canadiens' nemesis throughout the first four games. Flying Flem now has tallied four of the Bruins' five goals against Montreal.

Simmons, who shut out Detroit by the same score in the semifinal competition, made 21 saves in his sterling effort.

The series resumes Tuesday night in Montreal.

Hot Rod Hundley Plays Here Tonight

Blue Angels Hosts To All-America Ace And His All-Stars

Hot Rod Hundley, West Virginia University basketball ace, who has made six All-America first teams and is expected to be claimed in the National Basketball Association's annual grab bag ceremonies today, leads his All-Stars against the Victory Post, American Legion, Blue Angels of Westernport tonight at 9:15 o'clock on SS. Peter and Paul court.

Charlie Tyra of Louisville is reported to be the No. 1 choice of the transplanted Cincinnati Royals in the NBA's annual draft of this year's college crop.

Favored By Knicks

Hundley and Lennie Rosenbluth of North Carolina's national champions are expected to be claimed next. The New York Knickerbockers are known to favor Hundley, who as a collegian was a big drawing card in three appearances in Madison Square Garden.

Hundley is the fourth Mountaineer to win All-America honors. The others were Mark Workman (1952), Leland Byrd (1947) and Scotty Hamilton (1942).

Other West Virginia U. players expected to appear in the All-Stars lineup are Clayce Kishbaugh, Jim Sottile and Nemo Nierman.

Don Moran, former Bruce High and University of Maryland star, heads the Blue Angels' roster. Others on the squad for tonight's game are Dave Marple and Jim Cave, of Frostburg State; Gene Becker, Bill Edmundson and Eddie Orndorff of Potomac State; Bob Pence, George McGregor and Jimmy Eckard, of Cumberland City League teams.

Profits For Baseball

Tonight's game is sponsored by the local Dapper Dan Club and the profits will go toward the Little Baseball League which that organization sponsors. There will be a preliminary game at 8 o'clock. Tickets may be purchased up to 6 p. m. today at the Wilson Hardware Company.

Hundley's All-Stars will meet the South Branch Valley All-Stars Tuesday at 8:30 p. m., at Moorefield High School. Coach Jonathan Paugh of Moorefield High is recruiting the all-star array.

Hot Rodders Lose

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., April 14 —Joe Miller and George Cockrell, both from Alderson-Broaddus led the College All-Stars to an 88-33 win over Rod Hundley's basketball All-Stars before 1,500 fans at Notre Dame High School here today.

The game concluded the Hundley-state collegians series, with the Hot Rods combine winning 11 of 18 games.

ST. LOUIS, April 14 —Mickey McDermott and Arnold Portocarrero teamed today to shut out St. Louis, 1-0, after the Cardinals had won the Missouri Governor's Cup by using unlearned four runs to beat the Kansas City Athletics in the opener of a doubleheader, 7-3.

Furillo's Hit Beats Yankees

NEW YORK, April 14 —Left-hander Johnny Podres, pitching star of Brooklyn's 1955 World Series victory, continued his mastery of the New York Yankees today as the Dodgers nipped the world champions 2-1 before a chilled gathering of 7,897 fans.

Carl Furillo's two-run single off Bobby Shantz in the third inning provided the runs.

Podres blanked the Yanks during his four-inning stay to run his string of scoreless innings against them to 21, beginning with the last two innings of the third game of the '55 series. He shut them out in the final game and went into the Navy. Johnny resumed his baseball career this spring and held the Yankees scoreless for six innings at Vero Beach, Fla.

The two World Series rivals finished their spring exhibition series all even at 3-3. The Yanks won 16 of 31 against major league opposition and 18 of 34, including minor league games. The Dodgers finished with a 16-17 record plus one tie, playing only big league teams. Brooklyn ... 002 000 000—2 8 0

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's. X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 14—(INS) have had several meetings with — By the time this is in print, Lana, who is very intrigued with Lana Turner will have put her idea of playing the mother name on a contract to play Con of a girl eighteen. Remember, it nie in "Peyton Place" for Jerry who brought Joan Wald. In fact, it may be signed Crawford back in "Mildred Pierce," which won her an Academy Award as the mother of a daughter played by Ann Blyth.

I know that Buddy Adler, Jerry's brother, is the mother of a daughter played by Ann Blyth.

ry and director Mark Robson

This would be the first time that Lana has stepped out of the glamor roles, but this is going to be such a big picture she'd be foolish not to accept it pronto.

Know what a "gidget" is? You soon will, because this is the title of Joe Pasternak's first at Columbia — and not to keep you in suspense any longer. "Gidget" is teenager slang for a petite girl. The story by Frederick Kohner, who is already at work on the script at Columbia, naturally is about young people and with music, of course.

Others take you for granted if you take yourself for granted. Now may be a good time to change.

Step Out Of Yourself

No one likes to be taken for granted. That's why every now and then you wish you could be someone else, a far more intriguing person than you are.

Good for you if you feel that way! It's a start. Just make sure about about it, and don't imagine yourself so entirely different that the change-over is impossible. Tailor those daydreams to size. Changes that aren't too difficult to make in yourself can make big changes in your life, even though you can't suddenly become a movie star or a lady diplomat or even a regally tall blond.

There are times in life when you've been the exact person you are, long enough. Perhaps one of them is now. Although you are already quite a nice, attractive, and reasonably popular person, you may really need to step out of your self to make life more interesting. Other people take you for granted if you take yourself for granted. You have more to offer than is plain to see, haven't you? Then do something about it to make it show.

Take stock of the natural advantages and disadvantages of your appearance and do more about both. Lift yourself out of a settled type that short-changes you either beauty or fashion-wise. Progress to perfect grooming that makes you seem a better organized and nicer-to-know person. Wear better, fashionable clothes to look more important and more in the know. A change from poor posture to straight-backed, chin-up alertness brings an enormously changed impression of you.

Stepping out of yourself personality-wise will count even more. Smile often, be more friendly and considerate, speak up more often when you can contribute

I almost had to add that the girl Pasternak wants is Natalie Wood. So do a lot of other producers, both at her home base, Warners, and at other studios.

John Huston, who parted so suddenly from David Selznick on the "A Farewell To Arms" set and left the snowy Alps for her, old America, gets here Wednesday from New York. He has an assignment from Buddy Adler to direct a western, "The Bravados."

John will hire himself a writer and retire to Ensenada, one of his favorite hangouts, to work on the screenplay. The picture will be filmed on location in the wilds of Mexico, the type of country John likes. And, believe me, John is such a good director that he had many offers as soon as he left Selznick.

Sophia Loren turned on the charm for the newspaper fraternity and other guests at Romanoff's at the cocktail party 20th Century-Fox gave in her honor. She told me that she was very tired and had to work three days on retakes in "The Pride And The Passion."

While Sophia has been busy with Kramer and Paramount, director Carlos Ponti has been interviewing various actors, lining up talent for "Stella," in which the beautiful Sophia will star in England after she finishes her American commitment.

She says she would love to have William Holden as her costar. That makes it unanimous, since every actress wants Bill.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Must be obvious to everyone now that Marilyn Monroe has no date with the stork. Else how could she make all these appearances in New York.

Art Stander's ex-wife, Judy, married March 31 to Stanley Gorkov, a local business man, is honeymooning in Hawaii.

Frankie Sinatra sang and sang for over an hour at the Mocambo party given by Jack Warner. The celebrity packed room gave him an enthusiastic reception he won't soon forget.

Frank introduced Jimmy Stewart, the star of "The Spirit of St. Louis" and Jack Warner, who made a speech which ended with, "When I'm serious I'm never any good." I thought he was.

At the Stewart table were Rocky and Gary Cooper, and Maria Cooper with Tony Perkins.

Dana Wynter and Gregson Bautzer, Charlie Feldman with Capicene, beautiful French actress, Georgiana and Ricardo Montalban were all at Jack Warner's table. Nice to see Joy and Bill Orr together. George Stevens was a late arrival.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

"It's got to be a country where my husband can get fresh eggs for breakfast!"

by John Crosby

It's almost as if we had all seen a different show. I saw "Cinderella" in New York—live and in color. People out here saw it mostly on kinescope and in black and white. And I have yet to find anyone who liked it at all out here. The reviews in New York were raves. The reviews out here ranged from indifferent to terrible (except Hedda Hopper who

This calls attention to a problem that faces everyone in this business—critics as well as producers and actors and writers. Television casts its little twenty-one inch picture across 3,000 miles of a very big country, invading people's homes of varying tastes and habits and backgrounds. In a theatre, all these blend into that monster known as the audience with some uniformity of response. Scattered around in their own livingrooms, they all become individuals full of crochets and prejudices.

Forty million people simply do not see the same thing on the screen. In fact, the variations they see in the same show are fairly astounding. There are such things as mixed notices in the theatre but nothing like the mixed notices you get in television. One person will see a drama of haunting loveliness and charm and intelligence and his best friend will run into him on the street the next day and say: "Wasn't that awful? And such poor taste? And so stupid?"

You get to wondering—particularly if you are a critic and have to go on record with an opinion—whether you and the rest of the world have the same sensory perceptions. For instance, on “Cinderella,” I thought Julie Andrews never looked lovelier and I had my mouth open to say just that when somebody said: “And didn’t Julie Andrews look terrible? What did they do to the girl?” Half a dozen people nodded a vigorous confirmation. We just didn’t see the same girl, I guess.

Or perhaps Hollywood is just too blasé for fairy tails. This place grew to manhood on variations of Cinderella which earned the place a fortune. It is embarrassing I guess, for Hollywood to look at the original tale which earned its fortune, stripped of all screen credits to other writers.

Whether it likes fairy tales or not, Hollywood is going to get deluged with them next season. We all are. "Variety" points out that fairy stories, no matter what the critical reception, are enormously successful on television. So much so that Shirley Temple has been lured out of retirement to narrate a series of twenty fairy stories and there are at least seven other fairy stories, all spectacular, on the drawing boards, including "Hans Brinker" and "Pinocchio."

Whether it is because of the age-old appeal or top casts or great advertising and publicity, the audiences for fairy stories have been enormous. The all-time champ is still "Peter Pan." "Jack and the Beanstalk" did a whale of a business to mighty poor notices and "Cinderella" claims an estimated audience of over one hundred million, though that claim does seem slightly incredible.

I guess people are just hungry for the fabulous, the incredible and the romantic. Two of the big movies on the drawing boards are "Don Quixote," which is Mike Todd's next venture, and "Ben Hur," chariots and all. It all seems a long way from "Marty" which was a love story about a butcher in the Bronx.

Teachers' Raise Draws Veto

Assembly Urged To Sponsor Realistic Self-Help Plan

BALTIMORE, April 14 (P)—Gov. McKeldin today vetoed a pay raise for Maryland public school teachers which would have been financed by a state cigarette tax of three cents a pack.

The program would have cost $10,400,000 a year, giving teachers an average raise of $400.

County School Polio Program Moves Ahead

Short Supplies May Cause Slight Delay

Sufficient supplies of vaccine are on hand to continue the polio inoculation program in the schools until Easter, when additional supplies are expected, according to Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer.

He said supplies are "nearing the danger line" but that the State Health Department has advised that additional vaccine may be expected during Easter week.

The current shortage of Salk polio vaccine, he added, could cause a few days delay but is not expected to interfere seriously with the completion of the school inoculation.

11,296 In Schools

During March, the Allegany County Health Department gave 11,296 shots of polio vaccine in schools of the county.

Except for supplies furnished for the student body and staff of Frostburg State Teachers College, the shots were given in the school clinics conducted by the Health Department.

Included were 961 first shots to those in the 5 through 9 age group, 382 second shots and 1,270 third shots. The third, or booster shots, completed the protection for virtually all students in the first four grades.

A total of 4,783 shots were given to students in the 10 through 14 age group. Included were 3,291 first shots, 514 second and 952 third shots.

The 15 through 19 group received 3,783 shots. They included 3,339 first, 154 second and 290 booster shots.

A total of 11,157 polio shots were given to those under 20 in the school program.

Get Second Shots

In other clinics, the Health Department during March gave 846 shots, including 47 to expectant mothers.

The second half of the school program began April 8 and by yesterday, was completed in 10 schools of the county.

Clinics are scheduled Monday at Carver and Johnson Heights schools here and St. Joseph's parochial and Midland public schools.

West Side, and John Humbird schools here are scheduled for shots Wednesday, as is Central School in Lonaconing.

Supervisors Get Report On Soil Survey

Some 1,200 acres of land in Garrett County were soil-surveyed recently by Kenneth M. Stone, soil scientist of the Soil Conservation Service here.

A total of 380 acres were surveyed near Grantsville while 820 acres were surveyed near the 4-H Camp area in Bittinger.

A March report to the Allegany County Soil Conservation District Supervisors shows that a total of 32 hours were spent in supervision, training and inspection with E. Z. W. Compy, supervisor of soil scientists.

All the working time for the next month, according to the report, would be in Garrett County and plans call for soil surveys in the vicinity of Grantsville and Bittinger.

Martin M. Gordon, acting work unit conservationist, said his office, through the Agriculture Conservation Program, has received requests for assistance from 50 farmers of Allegany County who are seeking aid on 75 different practices. SCS is responsible for need and feasibility, layout, supervision and construction.

Of these, 20 practices are for farm ponds. Gordon said in his monthly report that contour strips were laid out for M. L. Slider, Town Creek; Charles Humbert, Warrior Mountain; Paul Browning, Murley's Branch; Thomas Arnicia, Oldtown, and Wilbert R. Paul, Mt. Savage.

A contour peach orchard was also laid out for Floyd Buser while open ditch surveys were made for Cyril Laker, of Oldtown and Chelsie Liller, Bowling Green.

Penal System Survey Will Be Instituted

Legislators Say No Notice Given

Allegany County legislators, who were taken to task by the April grand jury for failure to institute legislation calling for a study of this county's penal system, will sit down soon with county and state officials to formulate plans for the probe.

State Senator Charles M. See said he has conferred with Del. Lester B. Reed, chairman of the Allegany County Delegation, and William H. Lemmert, president of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

In the near future, he said, the legislators and County Commissioners will sit down in committee with state officials to work out procedure for having the proper authorities make the survey, which will include a study on the need for a new jail.

Didn't Get Letter

But Senator See pointed out that neither he nor Del. Reed received a letter setting forth the pertinent portion of the January Grand Jury report.

"Had either of us received a letter," Sen. See said, "it would have been taken up as were all other matters brought to our attention."

He added that he questions the need for a new jail at present, due to the fact that a recent report of the Department of Correction recommended that Garrett County bring its prisoners to the Allegany County jail.

The recent Grand Jury said it found that a recommendation of the January 1957 Grand Jury that the Allegany County Delegation to the General Assembly of Maryland institute legislation to have the state establish a commission to make a thorough study of the penal system of Allegany County had not been complied with.

Can't Afford Now

The report pointed out, however, that the County Commissioners reported the jail is in better condition as a result of regular improvements they had been able to finance.

The Grand Jury said "it is obvious that the county cannot afford to construct a new jail in the near future."

It recommended, however, that the Commissioners and Delegation promptly institute a study of the problem, that they start conferring with state and federal penal authorities on long-range plans for a jail and that the Commissioners report on progress of the study to the October Grand Jury.

Hancock Man Is Killed In Two-Car Crash

Police Say Drivers Racing On Highway

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va., April 14 (P)—Harry J. Morris, 24, of Hancock, Md., was killed last night in what police said was a race between his car and one driven by his cousin, Lenwood J. Moss, 27, of Berkeley Springs.

State Trooper Robert Mozingo said the cars were racing side by side on W. Va. 9 about nine miles west of here when Morris' front bumper hooked with Moss' rear bumper. The cars ran off the road together, one piling against a tree and the other landing in a creek.

The victim was thrown out and landed under the other car. Moss also was thrown clear but was not hurt. Trooper Mozingo said Moss was being charged with negligent homicide.

Three passengers were not seriously hurt—in the Morris car, his half-brother, George Moss, 10, of Berkeley Springs, and Charles McBee, 29, of Hagerstown, Md.; in the Moss car, his brother William Moss, 25, of Berkeley Springs.

Mr. Morris was born June 23, 1932 in Morgan County. He was a son of Raymond M. and Stella (Potter) Morris, of Sleepy Creek.

He was employed by the Dillon Orchard Company at Hancock, and was a member of Sleepy Creek Evangelical United Brethren Church.

"We seek the city which is to come." Heb. 13:14 (RSV)

The City Which Is To Come

By REV. GEORGE T. C. BELL

Jesus rode into Jerusalem in triumph and with palm branches and hosannas. The people proclaimed him their Lord and their King. The event is remembered and celebrated, although the moment of victory passed quickly and was followed by his public humiliation and death. Palm Sunday is not a picture of what was to be deep and lasting in history, and therein lies the frustration and tragedy of man's life on earth. But it is a picture of what ought to be. It all seems so entirely fitting. Goodness was acclaimed and truth was vindicated, and even if human voices had been silent the very stones would have cried out in praise. It is such a Lord and such a King who would ride in triumph through the gates of every city. And therein lies our hope. It is this hope, the hope that this one whose name is above every name, this King of kings and Lord of lords, will finally rule over the cities of men.

I do not think any words can be found that will be more fitting than those of our text to describe the purpose and outlook of the Christian Church through all the years of our Lord. In this church which we worship today is a product of this same hope,

Small Tree Saves Boy, 9, In Fall Over Embankment

A small tree growing along a steep embankment in the vicinity of Allegany High School was instrumental in saving a local nine-year-old youngster from serious injury Saturday.

Cary Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Kelly, 224 Carroll Street, hung onto the tree "for dear life" until he was rescued by a Magruder Street resident and City Police.

Officer Walter R. Crabtree said the lad was playing along the edge of the steep embankment at the end of Magruder Street near the Cumberland Contracting Company buildings.

He apparently misjudged his footing, the officer stated, and tumbled over the precipice for a distance of about 14 feet before he grabbed the tree. The tree measures about six inches in girth, police said, and was deeply enough rooted to stop the boy's plunge.

At the point where young Kelly went over the tip of the embankment, Officer Crabtree said, the embankment is rather steep, with a drop of about 60 to 70 feet to the bottom.

Authorities credited Willard Muhleman, 48, of 408 Magruder Street with actually saving the life of the youngster. Mr. Muhleman discovered the lad's difficulty and inched his way down the cliffside toward the boy, extending his hand to the frightened lad. But the boy was too upset to let go of the tree trunk.

Mr. Muhleman, a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Snyder, with whom he resides, climbed back to the top and rushed to notify police who arrived quickly to the scene and lowered a rope to the youngster. Muhleman slid back down the side of the embankment to the tree and made sure the rope was looped and fastened around the boy's body before Carl was pulled to safety.

The lad, apparently none the worse for his experience and glad to have his feet back on solid ground, rode away on his bicycle. Officer Crabtree said. He told Officers Crabtree and Carl Stouffer, who assisted, he had been seeing how close he could come to the edge of the embankment when the mishap occurred.

The incident, which happened about 12:28 p. m., attracted a large crowd.

Young Child Is Drowned In Well

Robert Long, 9, Former Resident

WASHINGTON, April 14 (P)—Nine-year-old Robert P. Long drowned today when he fell into an uncovered well about a mile from his College Park, Md., home.

Prince Georges County police said "Robbie" stepped into eight feet of water in the triangular well located in a dark corner of an abandoned pump house.

The boy was the son of the Robert W. Longs, formerly of Cumberland and was a fifth grader at University Park Elementary School.

Two playmates, Wayne Ross, 8, and Thomas Sullivan, 8, told police they were unable to pull Robbie out when he fell in the well so they ran to nearby Northwestern High School for help. George O'Neal, 16, and two other boys came to the well, pulled Robbie out and sent for help, but the Chillum Rescue Squad was unable to revive him.

County Medical Examiner Dr. John T. Maloney ruled the death was an accidental drowning. Police said the Grayrock walled pond where Robbie went, with its bridge island and pump house, is a favorite play spot for neighborhood children.

Mrs. Long said that when Robbie went outside she had given him strict orders not to go beyond earshot of the house.

Survivors besides his parents are a nine-month old baby brother, Neal, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Long, 426 Arch Street, and the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Violet Grindle, Hyattsville, formerly of Cumberland.

The youngster's body will be brought to Cumberland today to the George Funeral Home.

Police Checking Theft At Local Service Station

City Police are checking a breaking and entering of a local service station which netted the culprit about $100; an attempted safecracking at a gasoline bulk plant; the theft of a woman's purse, and the stealing of a woman's coat over the weekend.

Entry to Gehauf's Amoco Service Station 400 Park Street, was gained, police said, by breaking a small glass in the side door of the building sometime Saturday night. The thief apparently reached in and slid back the door bolt to gain entry.

Ralph Gehauf, operator of the service station, reported about $100 in cash had been taken from a tray which was on a shelf in a small storage room. Charles Albright, night attendant, closed the station at 10 p. m. Saturday, according to the police report, and put $126.84 in the cash tray.

A $20 bill and $6.84 in silver were left in the tray. Investigating officers said nothing else appeared to be taken. Assisting in the probe are Sgt. James Brown and Officer Donald Buser and City Police Detective Thomas J. See.

Police are also on the lookout for the person or persons who took a brown cloth pocketbook belonging to Miss Hilda Williams, RD1, Braddock Road, who said her purse was taken while she was in a local store on Saturday.

Miss Williams said she had placed the purse on a shelf in a dressing room. It contained a change purse, keys, a $10 bill, roll of pennies, $5 in quarters, pictures and cards.

Wallet Is Found

The woman's wallet with the pictures and cards was found shortly afterwards in an empty lot at Dexter Place off South Centre Street.

Mrs. John Murphy, 131 Arch Street, reported to police a black brocade coat she had just purchased was stolen Saturday in a local store.

She said she placed the coat on the floor near a counter where she made other purchases, left her young son with it, and when she returned the box was gone.

Rec Facilities Being Readied

The City Recreation Department is getting playgrounds and ball fields in shape for the summer.

During March, maintenance workers for the department erected two tennis nets and painted benches at North End playground, installed a basketball net at Gephart playground, repaired swings at Ridgedale, buildings at Penn Avenue field and worked on Stittcher field.

A new resuscitator and other first aid supplies were ordered for Constitution Park pool.

Equipment stored in the warehouse was also being repaired so it will be ready for use when playgrounds open in June.

Slated this month is maintenance work on ball fields, erection of a shelter at Ridgedale, bleachers for Penn Avenue field and repair and paint jobs for playground equipment at Penn Avenue, Virginia Avenue, North End and Post playgrounds.

County Hoping To Hold Line On Tax Rate

1957-58 Levy To Be Signed Tomorrow

For the past three or four weeks, Allegany County Commissioners and other officials have been laboring over the county levy and budgets for 1957-58, which must, according to law, be signed by tomorrow.

The county tax rate already is at an all-time high of $20.50 per thousand of assessed property valuation, or $2.05 per hundred dollars. At county commissioners' meetings many residents have voiced the opinion that taxes should go no higher. The commissioners and other county officials have acknowledged that the line must be held on taxes if possible.

However, an analysis of budget requests from the several county departments shows that in almost every instance, department heads want more money for operation and to pay salaries.

For example, the election board request for the new year is $36,143, compared to $32,653 for the current year. This is about a 10 per cent increase.

The Assessors Department has requested $37,873 compared to $33,062.22 for the current year and $30,542.82 for the previous year. Here again, the budget shows a 10 per cent increase.

Circuit Court judges in their budget, request $5,500 compared to $3,600 for the current year and $4,328.90 for last year.

The County roads budget request totals $374,628, or about a six per cent increase over the current levy of $354,926.

School Board Budget

The School Board request, largest in the picture, is $1,889,744, compared to $1,736,491 in the current levy and $1,648,711 for last year. The request is an increase of a little under nine per cent.

The Infirmary indicates it will need $208,300 for the new year against $206,000 for the current year and $208,300 last year.

The Welfare Board has requested $185,568.86 against $182,368.86 for the current year, or an increase of $3,200.

Allegany County Home budget request is $58,350 against $51,650 for the current year, or an increase of over 10 per cent.

The County Asylum request is for $124,605 compared to $106,600 in the current levy and $113,600 last year. This increase is nearly 17 per cent.

A few budget requests did not change this year. The Upper Potomac River Commission request is $26,454 the same as this and last year. The Farmers' Cooperative Agent request is reduced from over last year. The current levy shows an appropriation of $9,490 while the new request is for $8,000. Last year the department used $9,455.

Big Reduction

One sizeable budget has been reduced almost 70 per cent. This is the building account which shows an appropriation in the current budget of $84,618, compared to $62,076 last year. This year's estimated requirement is $25,000. This is the account used for repairs, insurance, etc., for county buildings, such as the Court House and Union Street Building.

There are a number of fixed charges which the county commissioners cannot escape: Employers Retirement Fund, Teachers Retirement Fund, Social Security (county's share); Workmen's Compensation; and payments and interest on bonded indebtedness. This classification, shown in the levy as $782,927.63 in the current year, includes a flexible item known as "Contingencies."

This contingency fund in the current levy is $105,312.74 and was $146,253.32 last year. How much will be levied for contingencies has not yet been decided.

The grand total of the current year's levied cost of county government was $4,037,576.11. Based upon the requested increases for the next fiscal year beginning July 1, the new levy could run as high as $4,201,333.72.

This figure will vary, based upon the percentages the commissioners cut or increase each budget, and the amount of money levied for the contingency fund.

More Income

On the income side of the ledger, the commissioners have a little more potential income in sight.

Although they have followed a policy of not calculating all of (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3)
